

Salvador García Delpech

Medical Director (Co-CEO), Alken Clinic

Dr. Salvador García Delpech is the Medical Director and Co-CEO of Alken Clinic, where he plays a central role in leading clinical strategy, operational development, and the integration of patient-centered care within the organization. In his leadership capacity, he is responsible for overseeing medical excellence while also contributing to the broader strategic direction and growth of the clinic.

His work focuses on advancing high-quality, coordinated healthcare delivery, ensuring that clinical services are aligned with best practices, innovation, and the evolving needs of patients. Through his dual role in medical leadership and executive management, Dr. García Delpech bridges clinical decision-making with organizational strategy to support sustainable and effective care delivery.

At Alken Clinic, he contributes to shaping multidisciplinary collaboration and fostering a culture of continuous improvement, with an emphasis on efficiency, quality outcomes, and patient experience. His leadership supports the clinic's mission to deliver integrated and forward-looking healthcare services.

